VERBAL FIRST AID AND WAY BEYOND

Judith Simon Prager

Locking ourselves in our heads, we have lost the connection with the many other ways to communicate that exist in the animal world, prenatally, in our body language and in our imaginations. We are constantly communicating, always receiving input, and always sending electro-magnetic signals non-verbally. We communicate through our heart-field, through chemicals of emotions with fetuses, with our eyes, with our scent. When we work with clients, from the moment they call for an appointment we can begin the contact. Learning verbal and non-verbal first aid will help your clients, help young would-be and pregnant mothers learn these methods, help people learn self-healing, help couples to communicate better, help us tune-in to each other and the world around us, and help us to know we are part of one wholeness.

*Judith Simon Prager, Ph.D., is a certified clinical hypnotherapist with a Ph.D. in psychology and a private practice where she specializes in trauma. She is co-author of *The Worst Is Over: What To Say When Every Moment Counts.

Presentation - 1:00 pm - 2:15 pm

TRANSFORMATION THROUGH REGRESSION
HYPNOTHERAPY

Randal Churchill

Hypnotic age regression often provides an opportunity for powerful therapy. However, openness to the subconscious emotions can frequently offer greater potential for more profound transformation. This presentation includes an overview of many of the forms and functions of regression, including Churchill's 15 Steps in Emotional Clearing Regression. Uses of ideomotor methods, determining the appropriateness of revivifying a traumatic event, recovered memories, responsibilities of the therapist, and how to avoid influencing memories will be described.

*Randal Churchill was the first President of ACHE. He is the director of the Hypnotherapy Training Institute in Corte Madera, CA. He is the award winning author of *Regression Hypnotherapy; Become The Dream: The transforming Power of Hypnotic Dreamwork and Catharsis in Regression Hypnotherapy.

Reducing the likelihood of a migraine occurring and getting rid of it once it starts can be challenging. However, the techniques taught in this class are so simple any hypnotherapist can use them to get the migraine sufferer out of pain in 5 minutes or less and then to prevent their pain from coming back.

Melissa Roth became a certified clinical hypnotherapist after healing herself from several debilitating illnesses using self hypnosis. She specializes in medical applications of hypnotherapy. She is an award winning hypnotherapist, speaker and author.

HOW TO GET CLIENTS TO PAY FOR PACKAGES

Håkan Källving

The combination of clients & last minute cancellations of sessions are quite frustrating and could be easily avoided. Learn how you can free yourself from this hassle, forever. It is about commitment and the "trick" is how it is presented. You'll be surprised to find that the clients that are seriously committed will have no problem paying you for a 3 or 4 session package in advance. Sorting out the ones that are not committed is always better since they are not the kind of clients you would have wanted anyway. TRANSPERSONAL AND SUPRAPERSONAL
HYPNOTHERAPY

Timothy Trujillo

Hypnotherapy is a transpersonal therapy in and of itself. The hypnotic state allows the individual to experience a sense of "self beyond the self." This is the root at which cognitive and behavioral changes occur. Hypnotic metaphors and journeys allow experiential programming to further serve the expanded self. The hypnotherapist may also employ other identity-enhancing methods such as gestalt dialogue, dream work, regression, artificial reincarnation, divination, shamanism, ritual, and ceremony. Beyond liberating one from a fixed ego, the events add greater dimension to the persona, a suprapersonal transformation to a more richly faceted self. Learn the fundamentals and methods of transpersonal hypnotherapy and their application to a variety of settings.

Timothy L. Trujillo is a widely respected authority in hypnosis for pain relief, trauma recovery and immune disorder management. As founder of First Medicines, he has helped to deliver this system of care to HIV/AIDS-impacted populations since 1996.

REPURPOSING AN AGING POPULATION
THROUGH HYPNOSIS

Roger Cooper Dent

As our population ages, many vital seniors leave the regular workforce with hopes of finding more satisfying occupations. Many search for new purpose in their lives, some are looking for more enjoyment or personal reward. Hypnosis provides an ideal vehicle to "kick-start" one of life's greatest transitions by identifying areas of highest interest, focusing on positive change, and moving beyond the subconscious obstacles from past careers. In this presentation you will learn: how to increase your practice with interesting and positive clients, key techniques to increase client satisfaction (and referrals!), and critical components of successful sessions, presented through actual case studies.

Roger Cooper Dent became a Clinical Hypnotherapist after several years of teaching in the public school system and a twenty-seven year career in corporate management.

REWRITING YOUR MYTH

Bette Epstein

This presentation is about re-writing the story of YOU. Your expectations of where you thought your life would be by now were probably very different from where you actually are. The characters you cast into important roles in your life story may not be reading their lines, nor performing as you intended. There may have been death or a divorce, job loss or friendships gone awry, or any number of incidents that caused your original script to change or be in a need of change. For this work you need: To accept that you are powerful over your situation, a determination to heal, an excellent hypnotherapist, an open mind. This work can be successfully used in self-work, as well as with clients.

Bette founded Heartsong Hypnotherapy Training Center in Dallas, Texas in 1990. She has taught hypnotherapy in many states of the US, the Ukraine, Israel and Central America.

Presentation - 2:30 pm - 3:45 pm

THE ART OF SELF-TALK

Helen Hess

Automatic thoughts can be a plague to hypnotherapists and their clients. Automatic self talk constantly “programs” the subconscious. This presentation goes beyond, “cancel, cancel” and “positive affirmations.” Once we return the role of director to the conscious mind, the role of servant to the subconscious mind, and recognize that we all are in trance most of the time, we can simply and easily “in the moment” change the programming. The process I demonstrate will show the hypnotherapist how. Practice of the process, and a copy will be provided.

Helen Hess, NP, Cht.,BFRP has been a nurse since 1975, a psychiatric nurse practitioner since 1995, a clinical hypnotherapist and Bach Flower Registered Practitioner since 2005.

IDEOMOTOR FINGER RESPONSES

Alan Jensen

It is one thing to induce the hypnotic state, it is another to accomplish professional outcomes while in this most useful altered state of consciousness. Too often the Hypnotist clamors for a hypnotic script. This means the Hypnotist simply needs more training. The Ideomotor Finger Response IMFR clinical protocol is a valuable therapeutic technique because it establishes reliable hypnotic communication with patients, and enables clients to establish rapid symptom management and etiology. Learn how to quickly establish IMFR in a fun atmosphere and broaden the hypnotist’s professionalism. Participants will learn how to quickly integrate this valuable professional tool.

Dr. Jensen’s dissertation on The Treatment of Disease with Medical Hypnosis and other Strategies, began his career research and practice in Natural Healing Immunotherapy to Maximize Immune System Function.

ASPECTING

Stephanie Jaeger

Aspecting is an innovative process of identifying old belief systems, patterns or subconscious commitments. It is especially helpful in working with survivors of abuse or trauma, as you can rapidly get to the decision they developed at the time of the wounding event. Learn how to identify these “aspects” swiftly and get “them” into a state of cooperation and learning that will give your subject the choice to change the nonproductive subconscious into one that is positive for sustainable transformation.

Stephanie Jaeger is an expert in identifying and modifying negative behavioral patterns. She works with individuals and couples, specializing in abuse and trauma.
